

The Goodland Republic.

ESTABLISHED 1886.

GOODLAND, KANSAS, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1901.

NO. 5.

BEECHER ISLAND.

Exercises Commemorative of the Famous Battle of the Arickaree Fought in 1868.

The anniversary of the battle of Beecher island, fought in 1868 between a band of about 50 scouts and plainsmen under Col. "Sandy" Forsythe, and 800 Indians under Chief Roman Nose, was celebrated Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at Wray, Col. In connection with the celebration the old soldiers of eastern Colorado held a reunion. Survivors of the engagement attend the anniversary each year, the exercises being held on the battlefield.

Beecher island, so named for Lieut. Beecher, who was second in command and lost his life in the battle, is a small island in the Arickaree fork of the Republican river a few miles from Wray, and efforts have been made to make it a national park and to erect a suitable monument on the battle ground. No more unequal contest and no more desperate fighting ever occurred on the frontier and these annual celebrations are a fitting memory to the valor of the men who fought in that terrible conflict of nine days.

The Indian outbreak of 1868 was a bloody uprising in which many settlers and their families were murdered and tortured and their property carried off and destroyed. Col. Forsythe was sent out from Fort Wallace September 6 with a command of about 50 scouts to suppress a band of fully 800 savages that were striking terror to the settlers of western Kansas and eastern Colorado. The Indians were encountered the sixth day out on the Arickaree and the small band of soldiers took refuge on the small island from the fierce onslaught of the savages. The Indians were successfully repelled and when night came two of the scouts volunteered to crawl through the lines of surrounding Indians and go to Fort Wallace for relief. After nine days of fierce fighting and torment in which Chief Roman Nose and fully 75 of his braves bit the dust and the little besieged party had been reduced to 28 and all their horses killed, reinforcements came and the Indians were driven off. Col. Forsyth was wounded three times, Lieut. Beecher and Dr. Mozer, the surgeon of the party, and 17 of the scouts were killed.

SEVERE ELECTRIC STORMS.

Five Head of Cattle and a Horse Killed, and the Congregational Church Damaged by Lightning Last Friday.

Lightning did considerable damage in different parts of the county during the severe electric storms of last week. During the storm of last Friday morning an unusually heavy bolt of lightning struck the Congregational church steeple and also killed a horse that was picketed fully 50 yards from the church. Several large sections were torn from the steeple and some plastering knocked off on the inside. The church was insured. The horse belonged to Fred Hodgkinson, and was used as a delivery horse.

Henry Miller, living near LaBlanche, lost five head of cows by a bolt of lightning in the storm of Friday night. The cows were near a wire fence when struck and the rest of the herd stampeded and tore down a large portion of the fence.

James Tackett, living in Smoky township, reports that the lightning shattered 12 posts of his pasture fence Friday night.

Did It Ever Occur to You?

Men will even ask and expect an item of news to be suppressed when the entire community is already talking about it. They will ask the editor not to mention a certain occurrence when, as a matter of fact, its publication would harm no one, relates the Little Rock Democrat. If the paper declines to leave out the item the applicant becomes very indignant; if it yields, and a contemporary later publishes the news, it never occurs to the gentleman that he has injured the legitimate business of a newspaper and that he ought to apologize and do so no more. On the contrary, when a local paper leaves out an item which appears later in an out-of-town journal the very men who asked for its suppression are the ones to say, "You must read such and such a paper to get the news." Did it ever occur to the men who request a newspaper not to publish a certain item that it would be just as reasonable to ask a merchant not to make a certain sale?

Why He Got Off Easily.

George McCall, who, in a drunken spree, shot and killed James Hopper at a dance in Phillips county, was found guilty of manslaughter in the fourth degree and will probably have to lie in jail ten days for his crime. The only excuse the jury can have for letting McCall off so easily, relates the Colby Free Press, is that Hopper was a sinner, but they should have remembered that he was doing the best he could.

Get the Wizard's prices on groceries first, and you will get them last, because you know a good thing.

AFTER THE NEXT REUNION.

Delegation Goes to WaKeeney to Capture the G. A. R. Reunion of 1902 for Goodland.

Wallace Filer, John Bray and J. B. Trent left for WaKeeney Tuesday as a delegation from W. S. Robertson post No. 428, G. A. R., to attend the sixteenth annual reunion of the North-western Kansas Veterans association, to be held at that place September 18 to 21. The delegation will make a strong fight to secure the next reunion for Goodland and their efforts will no doubt meet with success. J. H. Stewart accompanied the delegation at their request to make a talk before the reunion for Goodland in 1902.

The citizens of Goodland have guaranteed to subscribe $200 to entertain the old veterans should the reunion come here next year, and it is planned to hold a celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the town in conjunction, as was done in 1892. Goodland's anniversary falls on September 5, and an effort will be made to have the reunion here on that date.

The reunion and celebration of 1892 was a grand success and the old veterans still speak enthusiastically of Goodland's hospitality, and should they come again next year they will surely be royally entertained.

STORY OF A LOST COW.

She Fell in a Well and Calmly Eats Grass When Rescued from Her Nine Days' Imprisonment.

Herman Greiger, living in Voltaire township, missed a cow from his herd the fore part of last week and a diligent search failed to reveal her whereabouts. Finally, when the cow was about given up as lost, Mr. Greiger thought of an old abandoned well on his range and concluded he would look there. The cow was found in the well, which was about 30 feet, and was sitting on her haunches, apparently uninjured.

By excavating and using ropes the animal was gotten out, and when safely on the surface she calmly commenced grazing where she had left off nine days before.

TOLD IN A LINE.

The new thornless rose will place upon the retired list the oft-repeated quotation: "Every rose has its thorn." The highest point in Kansas is Bird City—in Cheyenne county—4,000 feet above the level of the sea. The lowest point, is Kansas City, Kan.—709 feet above the sea level.

An eastern man has formed the habit of playing ragtime music on his wife's grave, using a concertina to produce the strains. It is evident now that departed spirits have no power to come back and interfere with things in this world.

It is said that Peter the Great, after witnessing a contest between two eminent counsel at Westminster, London: "When I left St. Petersburg there were two lawyers there. When I get back I will hang one of them."

Peter Guthrie, of Burlington, Col., one of the old timers of Kit Carson county, was here Saturday. Mr. Guthrie comes to Goodland about once a year and he always remembers THE REPUBLIC. He has been a subscriber for five years and he likes the paper.

W. S. Field, from New York state, formerly of Mankato, Kan., was in the city Friday looking after his property interests in this county. He left for Mankato Friday night. Although he was already the owner of seven quarter sections of land, he purchased one more through M. Robinson. The land is located in Voltaire township.

At a recent wedding in Washington Wu Ting Fang was jokingly asked to pronounce a Chinese blessing on the couple. The Oriental diplomat complied in this fashion: "May every year bless you with a child until they number 25. May these children present you with 25 times 25 grandchildren, and may these grandchildren—" At this point the bride and groom fled.

In Sicilian cities an appliance which is in general use, and has been for a long time, is an arrangement by which the wind of a horse is shut off when he attempts to run away. Standing out from the nostrils of the horses are little leather discs, which the pulling of a little rein by the driver claps down upon the animal's nose, thus shutting off his wind if he tries to get beyond control.

Rev. Good, pastor of the Methodist church, will go to Colby Saturday to hold quarterly meeting for the elder and will take part in the union memorial services upon the death of the president to be held at that place Sunday. Rev. Scott will preach in Good's place Sunday morning and the Epworth League will have charge of the services Sunday evening and will be assisted by the regular choir.

The store that H. A. Bowman has been conducting at St. Francis has been closed and the stock has been brought to Goodland and added to the stock of the Goodland Mercantile company in which Mr. Bowman is manager. The reason assigned for the abandonment of the St. Francis store is that it takes all the time of Mr. Bowman to look after the business of the Goodland store.

Three Protestant ladies walked into a Catholic church in Ireland during high mass. It was raining, and they had gone in for shelter. The priest, one of nature's noblemen, recognized the ladies and said to an attendant: "Three chairs for the Protestant ladies." It was a kindly thought but the priest regretted it when the man stood up and shouted: "Three chairs for the Protestant ladies!" which were given.

THE MEMORIAL SERVICES.

People of Goodland Pay Tribute to the Memory of William McKinley—Services in the Opera House.

The people of Goodland assembled at the opera house yesterday afternoon to do honor to the memory of William McKinley—the nation's martyred president. The schools were dismissed and all public offices and business houses closed. By two o'clock, the hour set for the services, the hall was comfortably filled. The stage was draped with bunting and potted plants were arranged about, and a large picture of the dead president hung from the proscenium draped with crape. The order of the exercises were as follows:

Hymn—"Lead Kindly Light." Scripture reading—W. S. Coleman. Prayer—Rev. George Scott. Hymn—"Nearer, My God, to Thee." Memorial biography—Prof. Charles McCormick. Address—"Army and Home Life." Rev. J. Ed Stevens. Address—"Lessons from His Life and Death." Prof. S. V. Mallory. Address—"His Religion." Rev. A. J. Good. Song. Benediction—Rev. Scott.

Ministers are coming. The ministerial association of the Norton district, which is composed of Methodist ministers of the district, will hold a meeting in Goodland next week Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Pastors of churches throughout the district are on the programme for discussion of many different topics that are of interest to work in the church. The meetings will be held in the Methodist church.

Father Leydecker will go east about the first of October and visit relatives and then will go to Germany and spend some months. His successor in this parish has not been announced.

Boy Steals a Horse. Charles Burgis, a boy of 13 years, stole a black mare of W. E. Dickenson, who lives ten miles southwest of Goodland last Saturday. The boy is an adopted son of Mr. Dickenson and probably became dissatisfied with his home and took the horse and left. Dickenson has offered $10 reward for the return of the mare. The animal has a blaze face, two white hind feet and one white front foot and is branded "T" on left shoulder. The boy is of light complexion, blue eyes and brown hair and wore buckle plow shoes, overalls and a blue coat. It is thought Burgis went to Sheridan county.

Will Hold a Spelling Bee. The ladies of the Congregational church will give an old fashioned "spelling bee" at the church this evening. Ten cents admission will be charged.

Most Fascinating at Forty.

It is when she has passed the fourth decade that a woman is now said to be most dangerous to the susceptible of the other sex, says an English woman's journal. Her face may have lines that "sweet and twenty" regards with dismay, her figure may be fuller than "sweet seventeen" deems graceful; it may even be art has to step in where nature fails in the matter of hair and complexion, but it is manner which tells. In carriage, in interests, in thought the woman of forty at the present day is as young as her daughter less than half her years; but her mind is better balanced, her judgments are clearer.

An old man by name of Grefer, of Jennings, Kan., went to the scene of the wreck near Clayton soon after the accident happened, and in driving across the creek the team missed the bridge and all fell in the water. The old man had but one leg and experienced some difficulty in getting out. He was considerably chilled by the cold water and went to a farm house to get warm, but did not recover from the shock and died soon after.

Samuel W. Bazzard, of Jamesport, Mo., claims that the Rock Island railway is infringing upon his rights while it uses a sash supporter which he says he invented and patented long ago. He has brought a suit against the company in the federal court. Bazzard says in his petition that in 1885 he secured a patent on a device for holding up car windows. It consists of a little brass catch and a series of notches. Bazzard says the device is in use on over 300 cars, and as Jamesport is on the line of the Rock Island, it is thought that he has investigated. He says other railroads are using the same fastener and that he intends to bring suit against all of them.

GEORGE AMICK IS DEAD.

A Railroad Engineer Passed Away Wednesday Evening After a Lingering Illness of Consumption.

George Amick, a Rock Island locomotive engineer, died Wednesday evening at 5:45 o'clock at his apartments in the Commercial hotel. Mr. Amick came to Goodland about two years ago from Trenton, Mo., suffering from consumption, and in hopes that the change would benefit his failing health. He had been employed by the Rock Island for ten years and was transferred from the Trenton division to Goodland. His health would not permit of his running regular, but he worked at intervals until last June when he made his last trip.

Mr. Amick's great determination in fighting the dread disease no doubt kept him up long after most men would have succumbed. He was 31 years of age and leaves a wife and mother at Trenton, Mo. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and carried insurance in that order. None of his relatives were here when death came, although a brother, W. K. Amick, an attorney of St. Joseph, arrived about an hour later. His mother was on the way but was telegraphed at Belleville that her son was dead.

The remains were prepared for burial and taken to Trenton on No. 6 yesterday morning for interment.

WHICH DIED FIRST?

A Point on Which a Life Insurance Claim Hinges—Parties to the Tragedy Lived in Goodland.

The outcome of a suit filed Tuesday by Thomas J. Seeborn, administrator of the estate of Arthur L. Snook, against the Fidelity and Casualty company, must depend on whether Snook or his wife died first.

On November 4, 1896, Mrs. Snook came to Kansas City and engaged a room at the Belmont hotel, Ninth and Central streets. The following day Snook appeared and found her. A few minutes after his arrival the occupants of the hotel heard pistol shots. When discovered both were dead.

Snook had a life insurance policy in the Fidelity and Casualty company. It was payable to his wife in case she survived him, otherwise to certain friends. Mrs. Snook had a daughter named Myrtle Moore. Miss Moore now says her mother survived Snook a few minutes and that she can bring a witness to prove that when he arrived at the scene of the tragedy her stepfather was dead, but that her mother was gasping for breath and died almost immediately afterward.—Kansas City Star.

The parties to the tragedy lived in Goodland at one time, Snook being employed on the Rock Island road as a brakeman. Miss Moore attended the public school when they lived here, Snook was jealous of his wife and shot her and then killed himself.

Sues for Divorce.

T. A. Williams, a Rock Island brakeman, brought suit for divorce from Minnie Williams in the district court this week, alleging desertion. Plaintiff states that he and defendant were married at Wellington, Kan., November 2, 1890, and that defendant deserted his home at Brookfield, Mo., in April following their marriage and has since remained apart. The case will come up for trial at the November term of the district court. G. L. Calvert is Williams' attorney.

Two Troops of Cavalry Pass Through. Troops E and H of the Fortieth cavalry passed through Goodland Sunday afternoon en route from Fort Leavenworth to Fort Logan, Col. The troopers were carried in a special train and their horses followed in another. The two troops were under command of Lieut.-Col. Cooper and are quite a sturdy lot of fellows. They will do garrison duty at Fort Logan.

Standard Time. References in the papers to the hour at which the president was shot usually carry with them a statement that it was eastern time. A dozen or more have asked where the dividing line between our time and eastern time is. It begins at Detroit and runs in an irregular way to Charleston, South Carolina. The dividing line between central and mountain time runs from Bismarck, S. D., to the mouth of the Rio Grande river, passing through McCook, Neb., Phillipsburg and Ellis, Kansas. The line between mountain and Pacific time is approximately the west line of Idaho, Utah and Arizona. Beginning in the eastern division the time is an hour earlier in each division as one comes west. For example when it is 12 o'clock in New York it is 11 at Chicago, ten at Goodland and nine at San Francisco.

Mrs. L. C. Ames and the baby are at Harbert, Mich., visiting the relatives of Mr. Ames, who reside there. It is at this place that Mr. Ames owns his farm and where they lived a couple of years ago, so that Mrs. Ames is also visiting with old friends as well as relatives. Lee says he hopes to get a few days off to go back after them, and also visit a few days with his people.—Phillipsburg Dispatch.
